Health

A condition of boarding is that your pet is in a fit and healthy condition and has proof of up to date vaccinations for parainfluenza, distemper, hepatitis, parvovirus, leptospirosis and kennel cough.

We reserve the right not to accept an animal into our boarding kennels if we suspect they have an infectious disease or if a bitch is about to go into season. In this situation your booking deposit will not be refunded. It is your responsibility to be aware of infections and the heat cycle of your bitch. "Heat" should be considered to begin with the first signs of vulvar discharge, or when the female begins licking or paying attention to her vulva. ... It ends when all discharge ceases and the vulva has returned to its normal size. You agree to this condition by signing our Boarding Agreement at the time of booking.

Should your pet become ill or injured while staying with us it will receive immediate veterinary attention at Southcrest Veterinary Centre and we will liaise with your own vet for matters of ongoing treatment. We will contact you on your emergency contact number while you are away to advise you of any health matters relating to your pet and to inform you about any necessary treatment. Any vets fees incurred will need to be settled at the time of collection.

Wythall Animal Rescue has insurance in place for animals in our care for kennel related illness or injury (not current or recurrent conditions). If your animal becomes ill after leaving our care please inform us within 3 days of departure. "Kennel related" health issues include, injuries occurring during their time with us, negligence in our duty of care, injury by another animal in our care, contracting kennel cough or another contagious disease whilst within our care. Our insurance does not cover your pet for any pre-existing illness or injuries prior to the being admitted for boarding with us.
